1. INTRODUCTION

An Operating Area (OPAREA) is an ocean area defined by geographic coordinates with defined sea surface and subsurface training areas and associated special use airspace, and includes danger zones and restricted areas. The Northeast Range Complexes include three OPAREAs – Boston, Narragansett Bay, and Atlantic City, which are located offshore of the states of Maine, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New York, and New Jersey. These include OPAREAs consisting of surface and subsurface waters, special use airspace, land ranges and stationary land targets, mobile targets and target control facilities, and instrumentation facilities.

2. PURPOSE

This data was created to assist the Navy in analysis, planning, and decision making purposes.

4. DATABASE DESIGN AND CONTENT

Native storage format: ArcGIS file geodatabase – simple feature class

Feature Types:

Polygons –

A geometric representation in polygon format of an area designated as a Military Operations Area, includes OPAREA, submarine OPAREA, range complex boundaries, and study areas.
