1. INTRODUCTION

Five military installations—the Portsmouth Naval Shipyard, Naval Station Newport, Naval Submarine Base New London, Naval Weapons Station Earle, and Joint Base McGuire-Dix-Lakehurst—are located on land adjacent to the offshore Northeast Range Complexes. These installations may use the waters and air space of the range complexes for training or testing activities as well as other nearby range complexes such as Virginia Capes (VACAPES). The offshore Northeast Range Complexes are also used for training and testing activities by visiting installations other than these five Northeast installations.

2. PURPOSE

This data was created to assist the Navy in analysis, planning, and decision making purposes.
